SIZING CHARTS

There are two types of sizing charts so you can measure using another garment that you have that is a good size lying flat, or you can measure when the person you are buying for is wearing the garment.

The measurement on the actual garment measurement are obtained from just one side of the garment when lying flat.

Chest (Width) is measured 1 inch below where the arms are sewn on. Double this number to get a measurement all the way around the item.

Body Length (Height): Measured from high point of shoulder (HPS) to hem

Sleeve Length: Start at top of center of back (CB) and measure down shoulder, down sleeve to hem.

Other chart is general sizing guide: Measure when wearing item with arms down at sides.

Chest (Width): measure all the way around the upper body, under arms and over the fullest part of the chest

Body Length (Height): Measured from high point of shoulder (HPS) to hem

Sleeve Length: Start at center of neck (which is same as center of back, CB see picture below) and measure down shoulder, down sleeve to hem.
